Planners Reaffirm Choice Of Director

The Carmel Planning Commission, last night, received a copy of Chairman Dorothy von Meier's letter to Mayor Steve Grant, in which was reaffirmed the commission's recommendation of the employment of John Riling as director of planning to replace retiring director Floyd Adams. The city council is scheduled to consider again the matter of Mr. Adams' replacement on January 3. No action was taken following a closed personnel session this week.

Approved by the commissioners was a report of the land use committee on the request of the First

March 7 Vote On 37 Cent Override

Voters of the Carmel Unified School District will be asked to approve a 37 cent override tax on March 7 in accordance with a resolution adopted by the board of education last night following a heated skirmish with citizens who oppose this method of raising added revenue.

Opposition to the proposed override was vehemently expressed by Harold C. Arnot, president of the Carmel Taxpayers Association, but he told the Pine Cone he spoke, last night, as an individual.

Raising school district funds by an added property tax was "an obsolete, antiquated and inequitable" method of school financing, he declared, and added that he was opposed to trying "this antiquated device (override) again."

Arnot advised working with Assemblyman Alan Pattee and State Senator Donald Grunsky to obtain legislation providing other means of school financing than levying a tax on "assessed valuation which is a scandal throughout the state."

He also proposed support of the Carmel Schools' Trust which Sheldburn Robison told the board last night is being examined by the state tax franchise board in Sacramento in order to establish tax exemption for donations.

Trustees of this educational trust agreement, proposed as a solution to financial difficulties in the Carmel district following the failure of an override tax last Spring, he announced are himself, Arnot, Dr. Robert Aurner, Frederick K. Duhring, Dudley Swim, Annette Thorn and Helen Wright Robison.

"As soon as we know we can get tax deductions, then we will solicit funds," Robison concluded.

"It has been established that $2,899,065 will be required to strongly support the Carmel Unified School District between 1967-1968 and 1971-1972, in addition to funds that will be derived from the current $2.15 tax rate," a report by Walter Hinton, district business manager, informed the board. Recommended in his report were the 37 cent override tax, continuance of the existing 50 cent override for four years following its expiration date on June 30, 1968, plus the $1.65 maximum basic tax allowable. This adds up to a proposed $2.52 per $100 assessed property valuation for the next five years.

Given to the board was an estimated cost breakdown of the district's requirements for the next five years. This included required new teachers for growth, $489,133; additions to existing instructional staff, $828,677; playground equipment and furniture, $13,975; building and grounds maintenance, $401,360; transportation needs, $120,361; certificated salary schedule increases, $605,188; classified salary increases, $77,363; plus a one-year projection of instructional equipment, $363,008. This latter sum includes textbooks and library books.

Other information presented by the administration points out that, if the electorate passes the override tax, this does not mean that the 37 cents will be automatically levied each year. The school board is required to carefully consider the needs of the district annually and to direct the county to levy a tax up to, but not more than the voted maximum each year.

If the override is voted down in March, the basic maximum tax rate for 1967-68 will still be $2.15. Hinton's report stated, in following years it would be $1.65.

Further information stated that the Carmel district has one of the lowest tax rates of any unified district in California. Out of 114 such districts, 102 have a higher rate than Carmel, also Carmel district, with the proposed and existing override, will still be below present tax rates in other Peninsula districts. These are Pacific Grove, $3.59 and Monterey, $3.27.

Dr. Harris Taylor, district superintendent, distributed to the board and members of the public detailed analyses of the district's needs.

Dan Daly, a member of the audience, stated he was opposed to the override. "I don't know why the Carmel Unified School District can't give us education we can afford," he declared. Richard Wilsdon stated that he was concerned that override discussion centered on finances rather than education, "something for the kids for the rest of their lives. Each year 3,000 of them lose a portion of their educational program, this portion is gone forever," he pointed out.

Board Member Steven Sassoon stated that he agreed the property tax method of raising additional revenue was outmoded, "but I'm not willing to sacrifice the children of this district now," he said in reference to proposed lengthy fighting in Sacramento and made a motion that the 37 cent override be approved.

Chairman Dr. Robert Newton said he had talked yesterday to both Pattee and Grunsky and neither gave any hope for quick tax relief for a district like Carmel.

"This board is charged with the responsibility of having the schools operated in an appropriate manner. There is no alternative but the override," he emphasized.

The increased cost to taxpayers with the 37 cent override was estimated by the district's administration to be five cents a day or $18.25 a year for real estate valued at $20,000; nine cents a day or $32.84 a year for property valued at $35,000; and 13 cents a day or $47.45 for property valued at $40,000. These figures are based on a 25 percent actual value assessment.

a "zone of interest."

A new look and improved illumination for the exterior of the Golden Bough Theatre was tentatively approved when commissioners accepted the design review committee's report as an interim one. Planned is a kiosk to replace the existing signboard, old English letters in place of block letters on the face of the building, additional, attractive light fixtures.

Church of Christ Scientist for a use permit to allow a reading room and parking facility on the west side of Lincoln Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues. Conditions included in the report's recommendations were verbally accepted by a spokesman for the church. In connection with the church's request for rezoning, necessary for a parking lot, the planners voted to set 300 feet as the minimum distance in determining

PIANIST IN SUNDAY RECITAL

While pianist Ely Haimowitz was here visiting the Don Doners, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Klene offered their Carmel Highlands home, and the use of their fine piano, for a recital Sunday afternoon. Both the Klens and the Doners invited friends to hear the musician, who has recently returned from a concert tour in Japan and Korea.

Mr. Haimowitz, presently resident artist at the University of Nevada in Reno, and his wife first met Don and Rosa Doner on a high Sierra trail which both couples were following.

Incidentally, the Doners' daughter, Tasha, is now living in Madrid and studying at the university there.

The advance sale for "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" has caught us by surprise. Tomorrow night's opening is all but sold out for dinner (show only still available) and the same holds true of New Year's Eve. Other nights have a good sprinkling of reservations too. We call attention to our holiday playing dates—Thursday and Friday before Christmas and Tuesday through Saturday after Christmas. Tickets to "A Funny Thing" would make a fine gift for the couple that has everything or for the college crowd home from school. And what an attraction for a theatre party! Dinner and show $6, show alone $3 except New Year's Eve. Not bad for an evening of mirth and merriment.

New Chlorination System For Carmel Sanitary District

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Carmel Sanitary District on December 6, the San Francisco firm of Wallace and Tiernau, low bidder at $6,512, was approved to construct a new chlorination system at the sanitary district's treatment plant. Work will start immediately on the project.

Other bidders were Daniels and House Construction Co. of Monterey and Granite Construction Co. of Watsonville.

Max Drewien, superintendent of the sanitary district plant on the banks of Carmel River west of the Highway One bridge, reported recent heavy rains and consequent rapid rise of the water level in the river, presented no threat of flooding to the plant. The sanitary district has an agreement to join forces with Monterey County and the State Department of Beaches and Parks in case a threat of serious flooding arises. On December 5, Drewien notified the state department at 7:30 a.m. of heavy flow in the river. The department promptly bulldozed open the sand bar at the river mouth, thus averting a serious back flow.

Sanitary directors will meet again on January 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the district's offices in the Ricketts Building on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth. Harold C. Arnot is president of the board.

Dr. Broadbuss

Family services for Dr. C. A. Broadbuss, who resided in Carmel for some 10 years before moving recently to Pacific Grove, were held Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with the Reverend Burkett Cree of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula officiating. While under a physician's care, his death at his home on Saturday was unexpected.

Born in Forreston, Illinois, on December 25, 1878, Dr. Broadbuss maintained a medical practice in Stockton for 56 years and was director of postgraduate activities for the California Medical Association. Dr. Broadbuss served as a captain in the U. S. Medical Corps during World War I and was a dedicated worker in the Boy Scout movement for 40 years, receiving the Beaver Award for his contributions. He also lent his strong support in the area of scholarships for medical students.

He was a member of the Rotary Club of Seaside, where he practiced for a short time after his retirement, the American Medical Association, Alpha Omega Alpha fraternity and the Medical Honor Society.

Dr. Broadbuss leaves his wife, Mabel, whom he married 56 years ago; a daughter, Miss Zeala Broadbuss of Pacific Grove; two sons, Sergeant Bernard A. Broadbuss of the Stockton Police Department and Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. Broadbuss (USA) of Aberdeen, Maryland; five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Serving as pallbearers were Howard Timbers, Paul Doolittle, Paul Sujan, John Farr, Herbert Blanks and Bernard Laiolo. Burial took place in El Carmelo Cemetery, Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Memorial services are pending and will be announced later.

Those wishing to make contributions in memory of Dr. Broadbuss may do so to the American Medical Association's Educational and Research Foundation in care of Monterey County Medical Society, Box 308, Salinas.

ADOPTION SERVICES ACTIVITIES

Roger Gintert of Santa Cruz, a worker and booster for Children's Home Society for many years, was introduced and welcomed at the society's December board meeting. Mrs. Leonard Cohen of Carmel, vice chairman, presided in the absence of chairman William Kennedy.

The occasion also celebrates Epiphany, or "Les Trois Rois" (The Three Kings). Whoever finds the lucky piece in the "Galette des Rois" (Kings' Cake) will reign as king or queen for the evening. Co-Presidents Mrs. Jerome Carlson and Mrs. James Hathaway will preside jointly over both holiday fetes. Reservations are unnecessary, but everyone is reminded to note these dates and to bring French speaking friends.

Welcome Home, Mike!

Lieutenant Michael M. Raggett will be home this weekend and his parents, Mark and Hope Raggett, are truly excited. Mike's two weeks' leave from active Navy duty will permit them to see him for the first time in a year and a half and Mike and his younger brother, Jon, will be at home together again after three and a half years. Mike is an officer on the USS Plunger, a nuclear submarine based at Pearl Harbor, which takes undersea trips of several months duration. Jon will be returning home from Stanford University where he is doing postgraduate work in structural engineering after graduating from Princeton University in June.

Ferrantes Turn Vagabonds

Where the Peter Ferrantes will be at Christmas, not even they can say, but it will probably be somewhere in Arizona or New Mexico. With a gift basket of goodies, cries of "Bon Voyage" ringing in their ears, the couple left last week for an auto trip notable for its lack of schedule or set destination.

Although they don't plan to return until after New Year's, it's possible that nostalgia for children and grandchildren might lure them home early — especially since there's a new granddaughter, Harriet Anne Catania.

In College Play

John K. Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Hicks of Carmel, was a member of the cast of "War Without End," when it had its premier performance early this month at Grinnell College Theatre in Grinnell, Iowa. Author of the new play about World War I is Professor Raymond F. Betts of the college's history faculty.

In addition to tutoring in Spanish and teaching guitar, John finds time to write the music reviews which appear in the Pine Cone.

Air Force Trainee

Airman Kurt D. Andersen has been selected for technical training at Keesler AFB, Mississippi, as a U. S. Air Force communications electronics specialist. He recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force.

Kurt, the son of Mrs. Pamela K. Crean of Pebble Beach, graduated from Carmel High School in 1965, later attended Monterey Peninsula College.

In Donegal He Learned To Thatch ... Carmel Is Watching Him Work

Reeds from the Norfolk Broads in England — 1,200 bundles of them—were claimed at a San Francisco dock by an Irishman who has come to Carmel to thatch the roof of a residence near Carmel Mission.

Peter Slevin arrived here from England on November 10 after a trip across the Atlantic to New York on the Queen Elizabeth, then a bus journey across the United States with stops in Washington, D. C., Cleveland, the Grand Canyon, Las Vegas and Hollywood through weather varying from frost and snow to warm sunshine.

The story of his trip here started at Anne Hathaway's cottage in Stratford-on-Avon. A Carmel resident, Carl Bensberg, discovered Slevin thatching this historic dwelling in Shakespeare's birthplace. An admirer of thatched roofs, Bensberg arranged for Slevin to come to Carmel to put this type of roofing on a house he owns on Rio Road near Carmel Mission Basilica.

Irishman Peter Slevin learned to thatch in Donegal where he was born, then went to England to learn finer points of his trade under the rural industries program, sponsored by the British government, which seeks to preserve time-honored rural crafts such as thatching. A certificate of proficiency was awarded to Slevin for his work under this program.

He explains that three types of material are used to thatch roofs in the British Isles—long straw, Devon combed wheat reed and Norfolk reed. He was using the Devon wheat on the Hathaway cottage when he met Bensberg.

For the Carmel house, Slevin chose Norfolk reeds. These were cut in the seacoast marshes of the Broads, after frost had caused leaves to fall, then made into 1,200 bundles two feet in circumfer-ence, which were loaded in London on a ship bound for San Francisco. Then trucked to Carmel.

One by one, he is putting the reeds in rows with an iron hook handcrafted by a blacksmith. The rows of thatch are anchored by an iron rod driven through the thatch into the rafters. Overlapping rows will finally reach the ridge of the roof. The last row will then be cut at the top into a design.

Slevin estimates it will take him two months to cover the 1,100 square foot roof with thatch because dormer windows protruding from the steep-pitched surface will require special handling.

Asked if there was fire danger in this type of roofing, he replied that surveys made in England have proved thatch to be relatively fireproof. However, he chose to use Norfolk reeds for his Carmel job because they are impregnated with salt from growing in the Broads and this makes them fire resistant. The thatch, too, can be fire-proofed by modern methods, if desired, he added.

Peter Slevin was interested to hear that Carmel's first postmaster (Louis Slevin) had the same surname as his.

"There aren't many Slevins even in Ireland," he said in his Donegal brogue.

Lively And Exciting Tale Of Pioneer Trek

by Marjorie Haller

The diaries of a teenage boy who left his home in Maine with his family to cross the country and settle in California, are the basis for "Covered Wagon Pioneers," a lively and exciting story of the brave people who took months for what today's transportation methods accomplish in hours. The trek which started in 1956 ended, after stopovers in the Midwest, at Sutter Creek in 1959. Ira Marshall True, the author's father, wrote in detail of the hardships which ranged through heat and cold, sickness and death, near starvation and Indian fights, and told of months of weary walking across plains and over mountains.

In spite of the difficulties, which remind the reader of the extreme discomforts of war, there is no real complaining. The writing is, rather, a statement of facts without bewailing them, which seems incredible.

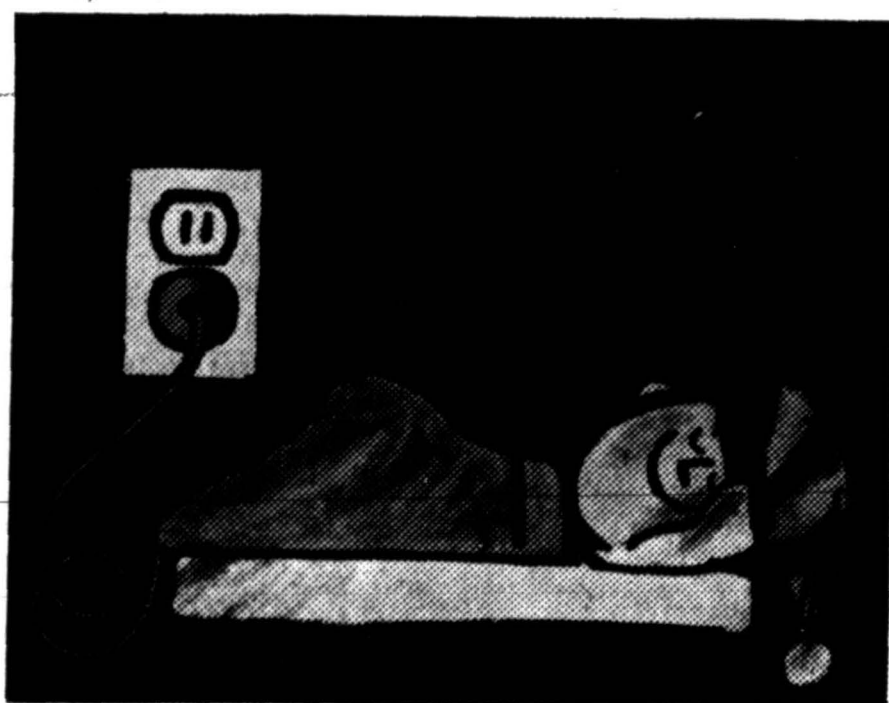

An example of the matter-of-fact tone is this quotation: "It was too hot to do any cooking . . . in my left hand I had a tin cup of milk, in my right hand I had grappled from a sack . . . a big handful of hard-tack mostly very small from rough usage, and was eating a piece or so then moistening it with a sip of milk. . . . Suddenly without warning, there stood at the edge of our circle near a bunch of willows, a splendid athletic specimen of an Indian."

The whole story is drama — without any Hollywood touches. As a grandchild of four such pioneers, this reviewer reverently salutes those courageous people who came west by wagon train.

Dr. Sally Ralston True, who edited her father's book and had it published, is on the faculty at Wisconsin State University. She writes of spending many happy vacations in Carmel as a young girl, and adds, "Look at the ocean for me." (College Printing Co. Madison, Wisconsin).

CHRISTMAS IN CANADA

Our Canadian neighbors love the Christmas season as much as we do. They have several delightful customs stemming back to their French ancestors. One of these is the old Quebec and Montreal traditional festive buffet supper called "reveillon" which follows midnight mass on Christmas Eve. The piece de resistance is a gorgeous "pate de Noel," the famous Christmas Eve.

Christmas dish of French Canada consisting of layered turkey, chicken, pork and mushrooms in aspic with subtle seasonings. It is completely covered in richly glazed pastry, but as this is complicated to make, we give a simplified form of galantine instead.

There are other "friandises" (delicacies) such as oysters-on-the-half-shell and oyster "veloute" accompanied by champagne or white wine. Children enjoy hot chocolate with warm homemade brioches. Little hot meat pies called "cicates Canadiens" are also in demand.

For dessert, French patisseries (we have one here in Carmel) feature "les Buches," or Yule Log Cake, a superb chocolate concoction, so rich it is served in slivers. "Glaces" (ices) and assorted nuts, preserved fruits and mandarin oranges top off the night before Christmas. These tempting dishes are assembled hours ahead so they'll be ready when you are, with just a bit of reheating in some cases.

PARTY PLANS has for authority the comprehensive volume "The Chatelaine Cookbook," a definitive Canadian collection of favorite regional recipes. There is also the stunning new and elegant culinary dictionary, "The Embassy Cookbook," which is superb. It gives the glamorous dishes served at embassies in our nation's capital. These festival masterpieces are on the shelves of Henry Williams' The Wells Book Store on Ocean Avenue.

Cream of Oyster Soup (Veloute d'Huitres)

One-third lb. butter; ¾ cup chopped onions; 6 tbsps. flour; 6 cups hot whole milk; 1½ tps. salt; ½ tsp. white pepper; dash of grated nutmeg; 24 shucked oysters with juice; 1 cup light cream.

Melt 6 tbsps. butter in saucepan; add onions and cook, without browning, 5 minutes. Blend in flour, then add milk, stirring steadily to boiling point. Cook over low heat 10 minutes. Add seasonings. Cook oysters in own juice for 3 minutes. Remove oysters and chop. Pour oyster juice into white sauce. Cook 5 minutes. Strain into a clean saucepan. Add cream and remaining butter. Taste for seasoning, thin with a little milk if necessary, then add oysters. Serve piping hot from soup tureen. Makes 8 servings. This excellent recipe is from "The Embassy Cookbook."

Short-Cut Liver Pate (Serves 18)

Two (10 oz., each) cans condensed consommé; 4 (3 oz.) cans liver pate; 1 garlic clove, peeled; Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper, or sherry, to taste; 1 envelope unflavored gelatin; ¼ cup cold water; watercress; crackers.

Empty undiluted consommé into saucepan. Season and simmer 5 minutes. Remove garlic. Dissolve gelatin in cold water; combine with hot consommé. Pour a little into an oiled mold and refrigerate until firm. Pour remaining hot consommé over cut-up liver pate in another bowl; stir until smooth; let cool. Pour this over the firmly set consommé. Refrigerate until set. Unmold on platters; surround with watercress. Pass melba toast rounds and butter spreaders. There are more elaborate pates in "The Chatelaine Cookbook," from which this is taken, but we prefer this quick and easy one.

Jellied Turkey, Burgundy (Serves 6-8)

Two envelopes unflavored gelatin; ½ cup cold water; 3 cups cranberry juice cocktail; 1 cup burgundy; ½ cup thinly sliced celery hearts; ½ cup halved, seeded white grapes; 2 cups diced cooked turkey, capon, pheasant or goose; 1 tbsp. grated lemon peel; salad greens; mayonnaise.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat cranberry juice; do not boil. Dissolve gelatin in hot cranberry juice. Add wine. Pour some of this mixture into bottom of 6-cup mold. Chill until set. Chill remaining mixture until consistency of unbeaten egg white; fold in remaining ingredients; spoon carefully into mold on top of clear mixture. Chill until set. Unmold on crystal platter. Garnish with curly chicory lettuce. Pass mayonnaise separately.

Brandied Apricots

One can (1 lb.) whole peeled apricots; 1½ cups sugar; brandy; whole cloves; 2 (2-inch) pieces stick cinnamon.

Drain apricots. Combine syrup with sugar in saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved; boil rapidly 2 minutes. Measure. Add half as much brandy as syrup. Study apricots (or peaches), with cloves and place in deep Pyrex container; cover with hot syrup. Add cinnamon sticks. Cover tightly. Refrigerate for several days. Garnish ham or other roasts with drained fruit. Save brandied syrup for use in fruit cups, beverages or for basting meats such as ham or pork roasts.

Champagne Fruit Cup (Serves 8-10)

One can or jar (11 oz.) mandarin orange sections, chilled; 1 can (1 lb.) Queen Anne cherries, pitted and chilled; 1 cup halved, seeded Tokay grapes; 1 cup diced, unpeeled red apple; chilled champagne.

Drain mandarin orange sections and cherries; combine with grapes and diced apple. Spoon into saucer champagne glasses. At serving time, fill glasses with cold champagne (or ginger ale for the children and adult teetotalers.)

And now for an authentic French recipe contributed by Jehanne Salinger Carlson who adores Carmel. The "buche de Noel" was nostalgically prepared by Mrs. Carlson's French mother, Anna Bletty, when they lived in Canada. It will be served this Christmas when Jehanne entertains her grandchildren at the spectacular cliff house of her friends the Ansel Adams who always spend Yule-time at Yosemite.

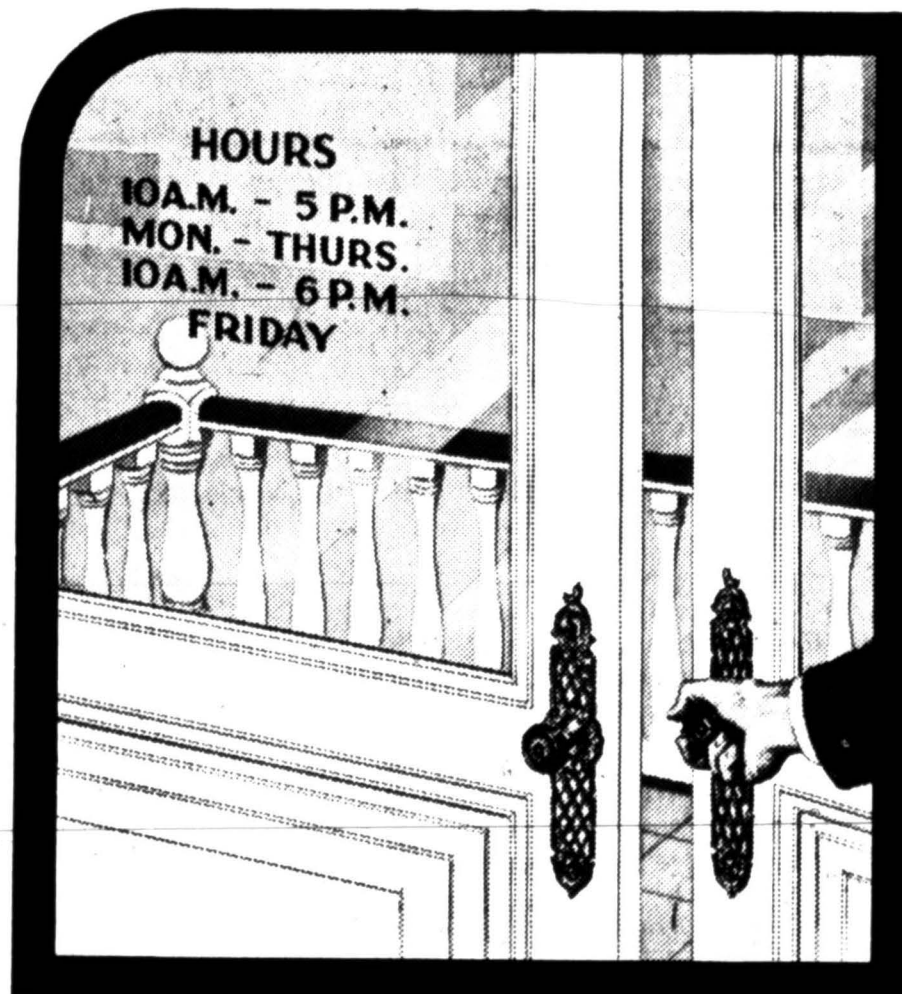

Buche de Noel aux Marrons (Yule Log with Chestnuts)

The remarkable part is that this cake doesn't require cooking, excepting for the chestnuts which are prepared first.

One and a half lbs. chestnuts; ¼ lb. (1 stick) unsalted sweet butter; 4 squares bitter sweet chocolate; ¼ cup water; ½ cup granulated sugar; 1½ tps. vanilla extract; some blanched almonds, candied cherry rounds and pieces of angelica; green colored sugar; butter cream in pastry tube.

To prepare chestnuts: Cut a cross on flat side of chestnuts with sharp knife. Boil fast 40 minutes. When lukewarm, peel and remove inside skins. Puree the chestnuts. Soften the butter at room temperature; don't melt it on stove.

To prepare the buche: To the pureed chestnuts, add the softened butter, chocolate (melted over hot (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Powerful Presentation Of Bach's Christmas Oratorio At Mission

by John Upton

"Not the lowliness of Bethlehem, but the celestial might of the Lord of heaven is Bach's theme. How proudly it is declaimed! How brilliantly the trumpet echoes through the royal halls!"

No words of ours could better convey the majestic effect of the Christmas Oratorio than these by Johann Sebastian Bach's great biographer, C. S. Terry. In fact, many of us who were on hand for the presentation of this massive work Saturday and Sunday evenings in Carmel Mission Basilica might feel that Terry's tribute was an understatement.

The occasion was the opening of a huge, lovely Christmas present, prepared and wrapped by Conductor John Gosling and 122 singers and musicians who performed the work for the fourth time, free of charge, to mark the holiday season in Carmel. The 88 members of the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society and the 28 musicians of the Monterey County Symphony Chamber Orchestra lent spirited support to guest soloists Leona Gordon (soprano), of San Francisco, Sister Theresa DiRocco (contralto), of Los Angeles, Edward Jameson (tenor), of San Francisco, and Marvin Klebe (bass), from U.C.L.A. Echo soprano roles were sung by Carol Nielsen of Fresno.

For those of us who are not quite certain of the structural differences between the cantata, the Passion, the choral mass, and the oratorio forms, a little background may be in order. The ancient source of all of these is the incidental music in miracle-plays and medieval dramatic processions, which later, in the cantata, took the form of vocal solos and choruses telling a story meant to be sung but not acted. The Passion setting, in which the narrative and utterances of individual characters were delivered in unaccompanied plainsong while the comments of the crowd (or "turba") were sung by a choir in simple choral responses, was by Bach's time a well-established tradition. Under the influence of the Italian oratorio style, however, it was gradually giving way to such innovations as the recitative, instrumental accompaniments, and lyrical movements in the form of arias, chorales, and orchestral sinfonias which provided meditative commentary at various points in the Biblical story. This path of development led ultimately to such masterpieces as the Bach B Minor Mass and the present Oratorio, and in the secular field to opera as we know it today.

Bach's idea of oratorio seems to be definitely connected with that of dialogue; aside from this fact, there is really no reason why the B Minor Mass, for example, should not be classed as an oratorio.

The Christmas Oratorio we heard last weekend consists of a series of separate scenes linked together by the narration of the Evangelist (in this case tenor Edward Jameson) to form a logical

G. S. Courvoisier

An illness of long duration terminated the career of art connoisseur Guthrie Sayle Courvoisier, who died Friday at the Monterey home he shared with his wife, Moira, a well known artist and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wallace of Carmel.

Inventor of a unique plastic, in which unusual materials were inlaid to produce trays and other objects of extraordinary design and beauty, he was the founder and president of Curoc of Monterey. For a number of years preceding World War I, he managed the Courvoisier Art Galleries which his father, art dealer Ephriam Courvoisier, had established in 1905 in San Francisco, and with which Guthrie Courvoisier was associated from the time he graduated from the University of California in 1926.

At the university, he was a valuable staff member, also editor, of the Daily Californian and was elected a life member of the journalistic honor society, Sigma Delta Chi. As a Peninsula resident, he was active in the Old Capital Club as well as the art life of the community.

Private memorial services for Mr. Courvoisier, who was born in Alameda on March 10, 1903, were held in Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel.

Friends wishing to make memorial contributions may do so to the American Cancer Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

sequence of events. It is essentially a group of six church cantatas forming a connected design for performance on six separate days: three for the Nativity Feasts and three for the New Year. Bach directed its first performance on December 25, 26 and 27 of 1734, and January 1, 2, and 6 of 1735. The 1966 production under the baton of Mr. Gosling was presented on two evenings utilizing this natural division.

The performance of this gigantic specimen of musical composition cannot possibly be commented on in the usual way; the music is so superb that no serious performer could fail to do it justice. Everyone concerned was on Bach's team, and the result was a thing of great power and beauty.

Tempos set by Mr. Gosling throughout the work were, it seemed to me, a little brighter than usual in this type of composition; but the singers seemed to find them comfortable, and the effect was one of jubilation and triumph, particularly in the choruses and chorales. I was reminded of Franz Joseph Haydn, who said, "God will not be angry with me for worshipping him in a cheerful way."

Two of the performers consistently drew my attention. The first was Sister Theresa DiRocco, whose generous, velvety contralto gave great warmth to many of the arias and recitatives and to the lovely Terzet for three voices in Part V. The second was harpsichordist Margaret Fabrizio, who had charge of the unremitting continuo background, and who, in spite of the inherently weak voice of her instrument, made us hear every chord change. Throughout the Oratorio she was the rock of harmonic structure on which the other performers stood, while her jangly, percussive beat strode sternly ahead through the forest of sound about her.

The acoustic qualities of Carmel Mission Basilica are magnificent, we discovered last weekend. There was no rumble or echo, and the voices and instruments came through loud and clear—so much so, in fact, that we were surprised to learn that no amplification was used. There were microphones planted here and there, but they were for KMBY-FM's tape recorders. The complete Oratorio will be heard again in a broadcast on December 23 at 8 p.m.

Thank you, Mr. Gosling, The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society, The Monterey County Symphony Chamber Orchestra, and soloists, for the lovely Christmas present. It was just what we always wanted.

One hundred years of healing through prayer

This book presents an impressive record of authenticated cases of outstanding physical healings and spiritual regeneration through Christian prayer. It is a timely response to today's renewed interest in spiritual healing.

The reader will find many instances where the individuals who experienced the healings explain the spiritual awakening which brought about those healings. This book commemorates the Centennial of the discovery of Christian Science in 1866 by Mary Baker Eddy. It is offered in a spirit of sharing the hope and joy of ordinary lives deeply touched by the Christ.

Thanksgiving echoes — Thanksgiving was a happy holiday at the Manor. Despite the absence of some members who shared the day's festivities with families and friends elsewhere, the dining room was filled with many guests, some coming from as far as Los Angeles for the occasion. PINPOINT PROFILES Mrs. Fred Leidig

Christmas is a time for remembering! Mrs. Fred Leidig remembers many joyful Christmases in the early days of Carmel. She says she was never happier than when she was preparing a wonderful feast for her family at holiday time and presents for the children.

Clara Black Leidig came to Carmel as a bride in 1909 and raised two sons, Glenn and Dale. She smiles when she remembers the nurses at the hospital. They "kidded" her about the names of her sons, and suggested that the next one be named either Valley or Gulch to go along with Glenn and Dale.

"In those 'good old days' everyone knew everyone else; Carmel was like one big family," continued Mrs. Leidig, "we made up our own entertainment then—had dances, suppers and even plays, good plays, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Hand, a qualified teacher who instructed the young people in the art of acting."

Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" was one play in which Mrs. Leidig took part. She played Maria, the servant girl.

There were no street lights in Carmel at that time and the people had to fashion their own lanterns.

"I remember them," Mrs. Leidig told us, "they were made of heavy wood at the base, a candle secured at the bottom, with a chimney to keep the flame from being blown out by the wind. Yes, they were rather crude, but they worked. The village was one big forest with just a few dirt roads. At night you could see the people carrying their homemade lanterns as they walked through the trees to Manzanita Hall on Ocean Avenue where the dances were held. It was a pretty sight to see the flickering lights moving about in the darkness of the night."

One day a week the Chinese fishermen would come from Monterey and sell fresh fish to the Carmelites. "We knew it was fresh," says Mrs. Leidig, "the water was still dripping from the fish when we bought them."

All through the years Mrs. Leidig has loved to cook and bake. She tells of the days when her boys were growing up and how they would bring in their friends, some of whom are local businessmen today, just as she was getting the apple pies out of the oven. With a group of boys standing there "ogling" those pies there was nothing else to do than to give them each a piece. This was just a "teaser" as it turned out. For, at the opportune moment, when Mom was busy elsewhere, the kids would "snitch" the remainder of the pies and vanish.

Christmas time is almost upon us again and up to this year Mrs. Leidig has always had her family for Christmas dinner. But this year it is going to be different—"Grammy" intends to hang up her apron and just sit and enjoy the festivities, with her daughter-in-law taking over the responsibilities of the kitchen.

Her husband, Fred Leidig, told us about the Pebble Beach Golf Course of yesteryear. When it only had nine holes and the greens were not "green"—they were sand. Before every "putt" you had to take a rake and smoothe a place for the ball to roll. Incidentally, there was a rake conveniently resting against a nearby tree close to every hole.

At 86, Fred Leidig still plays his round of golf every day—weather permitting—on a beautifully manicured course, without the help of a rake. In 1923, Mr. Leidig won the championship—that was before the Crosby Tournament brought the "pros" down this way.

From 1926 to 1931, Mr. Leidig owned the Buick agency in Carmel. He must have been a "star" salesman since we discovered he received a platinum watch from the Buick company for selling the most cars in this area during one of the many contests promoted by Buick.

When recalling those days, Mrs. Leidig said she was not afraid of there."

horses because she could handle them no matter how fractious they became. She was born on a ranch in the Salinas Valley and practically lived in the saddle as a youngster. But she wanted no part of an automobile, because, she said, "when I hollered 'Whoa' it didn't. So that ended that, my automobile driving lessons stopped right

Carmel Progress Review

Carmel Progress Review is a series of informative articles about progressive firms and individuals well serving the interests of our community and contributing to our reputation as the attractive scenic center that it is. No person writes of his own business. Every article is prepared by Newspaper Feature Service which is solely responsible for the content and placement of this column.

BINDEL'S TREE SERVICE

Among the top contracting organizations that have a proven reputation for fast, economical and safe performance is Bindel's Tree Service. From his office at 309 Crocker Avenue in Pacific Grove, owner Gil Bindel dispatches radio equipped crews to cover all the Monterey Peninsula. Thus it is that day or night emergency service is rapidly available to residents calling the firm at 375-8486.

A specialist in tree trimming, Gil Bindel's Tree Service has full facilities for this work as well as removal, topping and felling of old stumps and the complete clearing of lots. The use of a power wood splitter and chain saws enables the firm to cut fireplace wood at the site in the fastest possible time to hold charges to a minimum. All work is covered by full liability insurance and done by expert tree men who leave the premises neat and fully cleaned up.

Gil Bindel is performing an outstanding service for residents of the Monterey Peninsula and has won a resounding success with his Bindel's Tree Service, thus becoming an important member of the business life of the area.

Lugo's modern new station in Carmel LUGO'S SHELL STATIONS

One of the most successful and certainly one of the most popular service station operations serving the people of the Monterey Peninsula area is Lugo's Shell with stations at 7th and San Carlos in Carmel and at Lighthouse and Fountain in Pacific Grove.

No sooner does a motorist drive into one of these attractive stations than he is greeted with a smile, had his needs cared for and is soon on his way again. Everything from one of the famous Shell gasolines in the tank to checking the under-the-hood points and the cleaning of glass is accomplished with courtesy and dispatch. The Lugo stations are also favorably known for their mechanical departments where factory specification charts are used on every lubrication job to assure that every point of wear is properly serviced. Both locations are also outlets for the time-proven Gates tires for passenger, sports, truck or commercial service. Other work done in the mechanical departments include wheel alignment and balancing, brakes and general repair.

Heading up this efficiently operated business enterprise is the Lugo father and son team. It has been their consistent credo of customer service and satisfaction which has been responsible for the firm's steady growth and position of prominence in its field.

Georgia Bamford

Services for Mrs. Georgia Loring Bamford, 93, were held Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the Sea, Pacific Grove, with the Reverend Alexander Bryans of the Church of the Wayfarer officiating. Mrs. Bamford, a Carmel resident for the past 11 years, died Friday at her home on Casanova near Eighth after a period of failing health.

As a small girl, she came to California with her family from Omro, Wisconsin, where she was born January 23, 1873.

Before coming to Carmel in 1955, Mrs. Bamford resided in Oakland and was a member of the Ebell Club there. She belonged also to the Carmel Woman's Club, the Carmel Republican Women's Club and the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association.

There are no close relatives surviving.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of services, which were followed by private inurnment at the Chapel of Chimes, Oakland.

Friends wishing to make memorial contributions in her honor may do so to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 2099 David Avenue, Monterey.

FLOOD RELIEF BENEFIT

A large crowd, in elegant evening attire, turned out for the dinner at Domenici's November 7 to benefit the families who suffered from the recent floods in Italy. The Carmel River Inn restaurant donated the special Italian dinner for the event, for which Dr. and Mrs. Max Panzer and Mrs. Aime B. Michaud were committee members. Mrs. Michaud has been appointed to the Northern California Italian Flood Relief committee for the San Francisco area.

DADS HELP SCHOOL SYSTEM

by ALLMAN COOK

The United States was built on a foundation of accomplishment by individuals and small groups. The modern foundation has been changed to "What can I get with the least amount of individual effort—or without any effort?" It was very exciting for me to verify that we do still have many Americans believing in the rights of the individual to improve what appears to be a crumbling school system.

The dads in the accompanying picture are participants in a fathers' project at Carmel River School. When last year's override tax failed to be voted through, they realized that something had to be done. They organized as volunteers for activities in cooperation with the district's minimum building and grounds program. The jobs they do, as recommended by the fathers and principal and approved by the central office, are important but not absolutely essential. The dads are helping to maintain the grounds. They have accomplished many jobs including fencing around shrubbery and buildings and a container for the sand around the playground merry-go-round. They have constructed shelving in store-rooms, helped with the plumbing, built a booth for a book sale. Now they have a list of future projects. This means that these parents must give up their Saturday morning activities. Such support of schools reflects those values that the best of parents and school people hope to promote in each rising generation. Much personal initiative and cooperative effort is demonstrated.

We hope this support continues at River School, not only for the material support it gives but also because this extra effort results in dividends of real moral value, an example to the children of the fortitude which refuses to accept decay.

Decorate unwrapped "buche" by running tines of fork lengthwise to imitate bark of a tree. Thin shavings of dark and light chocolate pressed unevenly over log resemble coarse bark. Add almonds here and there. Make holly sprigs with candied cherry rounds and angelica. Sprinkle green sugar to look like moss. Use a pastry tube filled with butter cream to further enhance this "chef d'oeuvre."

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

The usual collection of books about Christmas has been placed on top of the card catalog cases. Books from this collection are already circulating briskly. Christmas stories, songs, plays, folk tales, customs, decorations and even recipes are all represented. Every item may be kept for a week only because Christmas is just around the corner at this very moment.

A HISTORY OF AMERICAN ACTING is fascinating to anyone interested in theatre. The author is Graff Wilson, who is a professor of speech and drama at the University of California in Berkeley. The subject of the book progresses from the heroic school of acting through the classic, the emotional and so on and so forth. But the thing that makes the book so engrossing is the author's practice of giving short biographies of the famous actors of each period, and thus fulfilling his intention of giving a history of acting by showing how each famous actor through his life and work contributed to that certain school. There are two blocks of illustrations mostly portraits of different actors in costume for certain of their roles. Speaking of drama, we have on order copies of MACBETH, the new play which is causing so much comment. Not yet arrived, but coming. And speaking of drama once again, we have a new copy of James Goldman's play THE LION IN WINTER, the story of Henry II and Eleanor of Aquitaine.

Captain John Sydeman was born in 1744 and died in 1797 at a not very advanced age. Into those years he crammed a life of great adventure. He was the ninth child and the first to live, and after him his parents had two more children, and of these two, one survived. Being a child in those days was a risky business. Parents believed that sparing the rod was the surest way to spoil a child, and poor young John Sydeman was never in danger of being spoiled. At an early age he joined the army and left for Dutch Guiana. In contrast to most of his fellows, he married a native girl named Joanna, even though she was a slave. Later he was able to buy her from her master. The book entitled SOLDIER IN PARADISE is by Louise Collis, who writes with a directness, and a sparing use of adjectives which is quite pleasing. Most of her material seems to have come from Sydeman's journals.

Early in 1966, two Soviet writers were put on trial because of the material in their books, and in the trial the literature was itself used as evidence against them. They were sentenced to prison terms at hard labor. The books had been published under pseudonyms but the real names of the authors are Sinyavsky and Daniel. A translation of the court transcript has been made by Max Hayward and published as a book under the title ON TRIAL. In an introduction Hayward speaks at some length of the books the two men had written, of their story content, and of why these ideas and stories were an irritation to the official Soviet. It brings to the reader once again a knowledge of the crushing burden borne by people lacking freedom of speech. This is a small book but well worth while.

Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." It will be broadcast this Sunday at 7:30 a.m. over station KGO. It will recall many of the healings of Christ Jesus which Christmas really commemorates.

ARTIST ON PROGRAM FOR HIGH TWELVE

John Cunningham, director of the Carmel Art Institute, will be the guest speaker Monday at the last luncheon meeting of the year for the High Twelve Club. The well known artist also will give a demonstration of painting—a fine opportunity for members to learn some of the fine points from a top artist at work. John Holman is chairman for the day.

It costs more than $100 million a year to remove litter from the nation's highways.

REPORTS FROM RLS

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM ENDS RLS YEAR

In the beautiful Erdman Memorial Chapel, decked out in green boughs and red ribbon garlands for the holidays, the traditional Christmas program at the Stevenson School will be held starting at 8 p.m. tonight. It marks the end of school for 1966 for students and faculty. Parents and friends of the school will join in the service and singing as the students present the story of Christmas in song and verse.

Under the supervision of Music Director Robert Peterson, the choir and glee club, plus a group of speech students and an instrumental section, have been preparing for two months for a service of traditional and folk music and scripture readings.

Special features will include Miss Carol Fisk and Mrs. Alan Fields in a duet "Come Unto Him, and He Shall Feed his Flock," also Ernie Ford with two narratives from a recent album that salutes the tradition of Christmas, and a number of solo selections and readings with Stevenson students.

Mr. Peterson, at the organ, will begin chimes and carol music at 7:50 p.m. The service will be followed by refreshments in Reid Hall for parents, many of them having come hundreds of miles, and the students.

Participants in the program include Bruce Wileman and Mike Popovitch in a duet "What Child is This?", Buck Ford doing a folk carol, plus the instrumental section for Festival Procession and Carols that includes Ken Mahan, Pete Schreiter, David Greb, Jim Schaefer and Mr. Peterson.

Readers for the Festival of Nine Lessons are Pat Clark, Tim Donahoe, Gary Bechtel, Dave Greb, Jim Booth, Jim Schaefer, Will Haas, Bruce Wileman and John Urist.

In addition to joining with all in carol singing, the choir will feature "O Come, O Come Emmanuel" and the Magnificat (An Anglican Chant). Members include Gary Bechtel, Henry Bugbee, Pat Clark, Tim Donahoe, Paul Erickson, David Greb, Will Haas, Bruce Hartzell, Martin Mooney, Mike Popovitch, Sandy Smith, John Urist, Bruce Wileman, Richard Miller, Walter Sullivan, Jim Schaefer and Jim Booth.

Headmaster Robert U. Riclefs, in complimenting Fred Manning and the senior class for their part in the Christmas tree program last Sunday, pointed out the warm feeling students and faculty have had for the traditional Christmas Week services.

SPEECH STUDENTS WIN HONORS

The RLS Forensic team, under the sponsorship of the Winston Churchill Forensic Club, sent the largest speech team in the school's history to the Pacific Forensic League competition at Santa Cruz High on Saturday. One out of five boys at Stevenson participates in speech competition and their efforts gained recognition as they swept to three firsts, dominated three events, and won a total of 15 trophies and awards. Eligible to enter only seven of the 11 events (there are four events for girls only), RLS made an outstanding showing in five of the six events they did enter, taking third in sweepstakes against schools who entered all 11 events.

Outstanding performances were given by Larry Kuechler who placed first in impromptu speaking, followed by Bruce Decker in third place, Joe Arsenio in fourth and Smith Dungan in fifth. Dramatic interp was won by Jim Russell with Lonnie Foy taking second in an event first entered by RLS this year. Both boys brought tears to the eyes of judges and observers alike as they gave "smashing" performances. Don Stillwell, still showing the class that won him outstanding speaking honors last year, took first in oratorical analysis, taking first place on the ballot of every judge in all rounds, including the semifinal and final rounds. Joe Arsenio, always a strong contender, was a double winner for the day taking third in extemp speaking and was followed by Grover Wickersham, in his best performance to date, taking fifth. In radio, five of the eight finalists were from RLS, with Pete Cowden taking second, Dave Basham third and Phil Fleming fourth, as Mark Stevenson and Barry Nathan tied for fifth. In the other event entered, both John Cann and Josh Mack made it to the semifinals in humorous interp. So far the debate and forensic teams, with only one-third of the season completed, have won almost as many trophies and awards as the entire team did last year. And a Happy New Year!

ACADEMIC HONORS

Next week we will list the academic honors of the second grading period. A preview shows that some 97 boys made the honor roll, highest in school history, with 21 on faculty honors and 45 boys just missing honors by three or less points. And again, a Happy New Year!

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR National Park Service Washington PINNACLES NATIONAL MONUMENT, CALIFORNIA Proposed Wilderness Establishment; Hearing

Notice is hereby given in accordance with the provisions of the Act of September 3, 1964 (78 Stat. 890, 892; 16 U.S.C. 1131, 1132), that a public hearing will be held for Pinnacles National Monument beginning at 9:00 a.m. on February 10, 1967, in the Board of Supervisors' Chambers, Monterey County Court House, Alisal and Church Streets, Salinas, California, for the purpose of receiving comments and suggestions as to the appropriateness of a proposal for the establishment of a wilderness area comprising about 3,720 acres within the Pinnacles National Monument. The proposed wilderness area is located in San Benito and Monterey Counties, California.

A packet containing a map depicting the preliminary boundaries of the proposed wilderness area and providing additional information about the proposal may be obtained from the Superintendent, Pinnacles National Monument, Salinas, California 95043, or the Regional Director, National Park Service, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, P. O. Box 36063, San Francisco.

Students Will Carol Nightly In City Park

Last year, a group of high school students from five Carmel churches met and made plans for a Christmas creche to be placed in Devendorf Plaza. To help in financing this project they made and sold candles to be used in Advent wreaths.

After obtaining the permission of the city council, the students set up their creche, using natural materials (driftwood, stone, etc.), then presented a program of carols every night during the two-week period prior to Christmas Eve.

This Christmas season, continuing the precedent begun last year, they will again set up the creche and groups will sing carols in Devendorf Plaza every night, beginning December 15 and ending December 23. The programs will begin at 7 p.m. each evening.

California 94102. A description of the preliminary boundaries and larger maps of the area proposed for establishment as wilderness are available for review in the above offices, and in Room 1013 of the Department of the Interior Building at 18th and C Streets, Northwest, Washington, D. C. The master Plan for this monument, likewise, may be inspected at these three locations.

Interested individuals, representatives of organizations and public officials are invited to express their views in person at the aforementioned public hearing, provided they notify the hearing officer in care of the Superintendent, Pinnacles National Monument, Salinas, California 95043, by February 8, 1967. Those not wishing to appear in person may submit written statements on the wilderness proposal to the hearing officer at that address for inclusion in the official record concerning the proposal which will be held open for 10 days following conclusion of the hearings.

Time limitations may make it necessary to limit the length of oral presentations and to restrict to one person the presentation made in behalf of an organization. An abbreviated oral statement may, however, be supplemented by a more complete written statement which should be submitted to the hearing officer at the time of presentation of the oral statement. Written statements presented in person at the hearing will be considered for inclusion in the transcribed hearing record. However, all materials so presented at the hearing shall be subject to determinations that they are appropriate for inclusion in the transcribed record. To the extent that time is available after presentation of oral statements by those who have given the required advance notice, the hearing officer will give others present an opportunity to be heard.

After an explanation of the proposals by a representative of the National Park Service, the hearing officer, insofar as possible will adhere to the following order in calling for the presentation of oral statements:

1. Governor of the State or his representative
2. Members of Congress
3. Members of the State Legislature
4. Official representatives of the counties in which the proposed wilderness area is located
5. Officials of other Federal agencies or public bodies
6. Organizations in alphabetical order
7. Individuals in alphabetical order
8. Others not giving advance notice, to the extent there is remaining time.

Acting Director, National Park Service

Dear Santa: We'd Like

ANY OR ALL OF THE FOLLOWING for clients who are ready to buy right now: NEAR THE STABLES IN PEBBLE BEACH, a home with 2 bedrooms and a den around $85,000—something modern, nothing old. Our Doctor client wants to be as close as possible to his horse... IN HATTON FIELDS AREA, something especially nice in a 2 bedroom home, price around $50,000. Purchase outright or trade Carmel Point property... OCEAN VIEW on Carmel Point—doesn't have to be a big house, but should be $50,000 or less.

SMALL, INEXPENSIVE CABIN on acreage along the coast or in one of the canyons, commuting distance to Carmel... IN M.P.C. C.. WITH A BIG OCEAN VIEW and a family room, near the golf course if possible, maybe Oriental? for a very nice retired couple... SAME AREA, SMALLER VIEW, but for this one we must have a dining room and a really good wall for the piano... SOMEWHERE NEAR CARMEL RANCHO SHOPPING CENTER, 3 or 4 bedrooms, dining room, family room, for a very nice, growing family... NEAR GOLF IN VALLEY OR FOREST, but we must have a big workshop, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, for this delightful couple...

AND PLEASE, SANTA, we are still looking for the odd, eccentric or bizarre house built of log or stone for our collector of unusual homes. It can be in good or bad condition; it can be remote or right in town; it can be cheap or expensive—but it must be DIFFERENT. Thank you, Santa, and do stop in and talk with us if you are thinking of retirement and might be interested in trading your North Pole residence for something here in God's Country.
